Last night at the January CCDV Board Meeting we discussed ways to ensure that the Cavalcade does not suffer another loss because of any unforeseen events such as weather, which has plagued us the last two years. One of the major ways to avoid another loss is our Cavalcade ad book. I would like to see if this year we could use the ad book to make 2004's Cavalcade both a show success and a financial success. We will have a Gold, Silver, Bronze and Patron level sponsorship program. The program that I would like to see grow this year is the Patron level. I know that in these active times, seeking a sponsorship from a business may not always fit into your busy schedule, and that being said, the PATRON level (for a minimal amount) may be just the thing for you. If we could get just a minimum of 200 patron ads out of 600 members, we would know that at least part of any loss because of inclement weather could be covered. With more patron ads we could even make a few dollars!!! I for one will purchase a patron ad for my two children, my grandson and my wife and myself. I will also look for business sponsors

ANOTHER SUNSHINE DREAMLIFT - by Joel Fellman

On Tuesday, December 2, 2003, Dennis Trayes and I were once again invited by the Sunshine Foundation and honored to assist with another one day Dreamlift from the Atlantic City Airport to Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

This time there were several wheelchair bound children. I estimate there were about 70 to 80 children (at least half in wheelchairs) and perhaps 40 to 50 caretakers (nurses, assistants, lifters & Sunshine organizers). Five NJ State Police Officers were also invited as lifters at the last minute because a few children were not able to make the trip.

Besides carrying or assisting all the needy children along with their wheelchairs or other equipment on and off the planes and buses, etc., Dennis and I had the privilege of escorting Ian and Shane, two young boys with cerebral palsy throughout the park. Although they could not communicate or care for themselves, they were a joy to be with and made a day full of hard work a sheer pleasure! You could tell by their great smiles and shrieks that they thoroughly enjoyed the experience. Plus, the sunny mid-70 degree temperature made for a perfect day at Disney!

We are hopeful that the Sunshine Foundation we will continue to keep us as regular helpers in the future. The airlifts are proof that our CCDV donations are put to good use. If we could ever manage to come up with $50,000+, we could sponsor an entire Dreamlift on our own. Something to think about!?!

PS: CCDV also helped in providing the goodie bags that were given out to all the children.

How We Make A Difference - Joe Remich

On December 29th Stan O' Leary and I made a visit to St Mary's Villa in Ambler. It always brings me pleasure to go to St Mary's because of my previous involvement with this terrific organization and the work they do for children. I know Stan was excited to go because Disney filmed a movie there in the 50's called Trouble with Angels starring Halley Mills and he wanted to see the castle like building where our meeting was to take place. We met with Sister Rosemary and she took the time to give us a tour of the facility. Stan took so many pictures I thought the Sister and I were starring in the sequel!

The main purpose of our trip was to present St Mary's with a check for $500.00 on behalf of CECF the club's non-profit foundation. After I presented the check to the good sister I knew Stan and I had a lifetime pass from getting our knuckles cracked. It was then that Sister Rosemary told me the story about something that happened a number of years ago that she thought I would find amusing. It seems that she needed to go on an errand during lunch hour and not having a car of her own asked if she could borrow a car. Well it turned out the only car available was a red corvette with an automatic. The sister not being shy used the car to go on her errand. She said she did get some looks when she was driving and I told her that I understood! I said we like to drive our vettes religiously too! Sister said that our contribution could not be timelier. In order to balance their budget despite cutting spending they needed to generate $500,000. The sister said the children they serve(87)now come to them more damaged than ever, requiring intensive care and support. We make a difference as a club because we help make St Mary's mission possible, the mission of caring for the most vulnerable segment of our society, our children. Joe Remich
