President's Message

T. Wayne Lankford

August has been another fun filled month for club and non-club activities. The weather has cooperated and many of our members enjoyed various activities throughout the area. There are still many upcoming activities scheduled so check our website and join in and have some summer fun before winters chill.

There is an issue that needs to be addressed to our membership. Guest speakers do not need to be in competition with our members to be heard. It is totally rude when members are not considerate of the guest speaker during the presentation. Our meetings last about one hour and if it is so important to carry on a conversation during the meeting, take it in the hallway or outside.

Another issue has been brought to my attention relative to our general meeting. New members attending their first meeting in August were told that when they went to sit at a table that the seats were all taken. I'm sorry but this is unacceptable. If we want to keep members, let's be more considerate.

At the September meeting, we will be voting on the CCDV bylaw change which is posted on the CCDV website and will also be published in the September gas cap. The CECF was formed by the CCDV as its charitable arm. The amendment to the bylaws is a clarification to insure that said board members of the CECF, elected by the CCDV Board, do not sit on the CCDV Board, which has the authority to elect them. Any CCDV member in good standing can submit their name to the Nominating Committee by September 30th to be entered on the ballot. There are presently (2) two open slots on the CECF Board.

As most of us have witnessed over the past few days the utter devastation from Hurricane Harvey and the inundation of rain crippling South Eastern Texas. Take a minute to say a prayer for the millions affected by this devastation, make a donation to the Red Cross or a charity of your choosing but most of all, be thankful that we are not facing this devastation.

Well, I guess I have said enough. Hope to see everyone at the September membership meeting.

T.

Proposed CCDV By-Law Change

As most of you are aware, there was a reading of a proposed bylaw change to be voted upon by the general membership at the September 2017 meeting. The bylaw change will be posted in the gas cap as well as on the CCDV website for review. Below, you will note the reasoning behind the boards' decision as well as the bylaw change outlined.

It is not difficult to imagine that if a situation were to arise where the interests of the CECF may not align with the interests of the CCDV. In that case, in order to avoid the slightest appearance of any impropriety, these bylaw changes were proposed by the CCDV Board.

The CECF Board is certainly able to advocate its position to the CCDV Board for consideration, but it would be improper for the CECF Board member to be a Board member of the CCDV and still maintain loyalty to both Boards. These changes do not preclude any member in good standing to run for either Board.

ARTICLE V - The Board

Section 2 Vacancies in Office - Upon declaration by the Board that a vacancy exist in any office the President shall appoint a replacement for the balance of the term with Board approval, subject to the restrictions set forth in Section 5 of this Article. Should the President's office become vacant, the Vice - President shall immediately fill the Presidential vacancy. Members of the Board and members in good standing shall not be excluded from selection for Vice - President under the above procedures, subject to the restrictions set forth in Section 5 of this Article. Absence from two (2) consecutive Board meetings without reasonable cause shall be grounds for replacement by the Board. The Activities Chairman, Membership Chairman, Gas Cap Editor, and technical advisor(s) shall be considered voting members of the Board.

Section 5 In no event may any member of the CCDV Board also be i) a Board member of the Corvette Enthusiasts Community Foundation (CECF) or ii) hold an official position with any other Corvette Club. Collectively defined herein as "a Conflict of Interest Position." If any CCDV Board member is elected or appointed to a Conflict of Interest Position the CCDV Board member shall either i) refuse or resign from the Conflict of Interest Position or ii) immediately tender a resignation of their CCDV Board position to the president, which resignation shall be accepted.

2018 is just around the corner...feel like getting involved?

CCDV elections will be held on Thursday, November 9th at our General Membership Meeting. If you would like to run for a position on the CCDV or CECF Board, you must submit your intention in writing to a member of the nominating committee. Your intentions to run for any of the open positions (8 CCDV and 2 CECF positions) must be received no later than Saturday, September 30th, in order to have your name included on the printed ballots. All candidates names received by the deadline will also be published in the October GasCap.

The nominating committee contacts are Bill Burkholder, wburkholder4@comcast.net or Rose Ferrante, rferrante@fonnerinsurance.com .

If you would like to run for the office of CCDV President, you must not only sub-mit your name, but the names of the 4 officers on your slate (VP, Treas, Secty & Recording Secty)

Should you have any questions, please feel free to contact me, Rose Ferrante; 215-343- 5552 (home), 215-784-9922 (work) 215-784-9944 (fax)

As always, the tour will be led by a Kentucky State Trooper, now using a marked red Corvette which is sure to attract attention as the caravan travels through an area of real Americana. CECF News !

First, on behalf of CECF, the charitable arms of CCDV, we want to thank everyone that has helped by selling and/or buying raffle tickets for our 2017 Corvette Raffle. Due to changes in some shows, cancellation of some shows and rainy weather we find ourselves a bit behind on average sales that we track with each raffle.

We ask the following of all that still have raffle tickets:

- 1) Please contact Jeff Hey so that he can arrange to pick up your sold tickets and also to let him know if you have unsold tickets and if they will be sold by our next membership meeting. Jeff's cell phone number is 267-249-1654
- 2) If you need more tickets that you feel you can sell in the next couple of weeks, please contact Jeff at the above number or me-Bob Weiss at 215-776-1212 or Bill Burkholder 267-716-2757 or Dave Urbanek 215-443-7568.
- 3) Remember to bring your tickets (sold or unsold) to the general Membership meeting on September 14.

It is greatly appreciated that the members of our club and the CECF board are working very diligently to try to make this another sell out also to make our Club and It's charity among the most generous in the car hobby!

We thank you in advance for your assistance as we strive to achieve our goal of helping others.

Spirits are said to remain in the mansion to this day.
- HAUNTED DINNER AT TAVERN ON MAIN - Eat, drink and be scary at Tavern on Main where the patrons are in spirited company....specters haunt booths, the bar and cause ghostly mischief. Dine in this distinctly Colonial era establishment, where at least four spirits have been seen and heard!!! A witness will tell you about it and perhaps you will have an encounter of your own.

Tests show quality gasoline keeps engines 19 times cleaner

ORLANDO, Fla. (July 7, 2016) – New testing from AAA has uncovered significant differences in the quality of gasoline sold at fuel retailers in the United States. The independent laboratory testing compared gasolines that meet TOP TIER™ standards often marketed to consumers as having enhanced, engine-cleaning detergent additives with gasoline brands that do not participate in the automaker-backed program. Among brands tested, non-TOP TIER gasolines caused 19 times more engine deposits than TOP TIER brands after just 4,000 miles of simulated driving. Such carbon deposits are known to reduce fuel economy, increase emissions and negatively impact vehicle performance, particularly on newer vehicles. To protect vehicle investments, AAA urges drivers to use a gasoline that meets TOP TIER standards for engine cleanliness and performance.

TOP TIER brands

"AAA was surprised to learn the extent to which detergent additives impact gasoline quality," revealed John Nielsen, AAA's managing director of Automotive Engineering and Repair. "As advertised, tested TOP TIER gasolines kept engines remarkably cleaner than other fuels we tested."

In response to increasing levels of carbon deposits in modern engine designs, the Environmental Protection Agency mandated a minimum level of detergent for all gasoline sold in the United States in 1996. However, some automakers believe the minimum does not go far enough to ensure optimal vehicle performance and their ability to meet increasingly-stringent fuel economy and emissions requirements. The TOP TIER program and performance standard were developed to guarantee that program participants' gasoline meets stricter targets for engine cleanliness.

"When it comes to selecting a gasoline, automakers got it right – TOP TIER gasoline performs best," continued Nielsen. "By selecting a quality gasoline, drivers can minimize engine deposits, increase vehicle performance and improve fuel economy."

Despite the fact that two-thirds of U.S. drivers believe there is a difference in quality of gasoline sold by different gas stations, a AAA survey reveals that Americans value convenience and price over quality when it comes to selecting a gas station.

Three-quarters of U.S. drivers choose a gas station based on location (75 percent) or price (73 percent).

Nearly one-third (29 percent) of U.S drivers choose a gas station based on a rewards program.

Only 12 percent of U.S. drivers select a gas station based on whether the gasoline contains an enhanced detergent package.

Nearly half (47 percent) of U.S. drivers do not regularly buy gasoline that contains an enhanced detergent additive.

Men (44 percent) are more likely than women (26 percent) to regularly buy a gasoline that contains an enhanced detergent package, as are baby boomers (41 percent) compared to millennials (32 percent).

"Americans are six times more likely to choose a gas station based on the price of gasoline rather than the quality of the fuel," continued Nielsen. "Since TOP TIER gasoline is widely available and only an average of three cents more per gallon, AAA urges drivers to reconsider their priorities when selecting a gas station."

To ensure a gas station sells a high quality gasoline, consumers should research the fuel options near them. According to TOP TIER, one-third of gas stations meet the TOP TIER standard for fuel quality. Retailers interested in participating in the TOP TIER program can find additional information here.

"Fortunately, consumers can reverse some engine deposits simply by switching gasoline brands," said Greg Brannon, AAA's director of Automotive Engineering. "After a few thousand miles with TOP TIER gasoline, performance issues like rough idling or hesitation during acceleration can often be resolved."

For testing purposes, AAA selected TOP TIER and non-TOP TIER gasolines from a southern Texas market that represents the type of gasoline sold across the majority of the United States. To measure intake valve and combustion chamber deposits, AAA engaged the services of an independent International Standards Organization 17025 certified engine testing lab to perform an ASTM International standard test on fuels.

To evaluate consumer gasoline preferences, AAA contracted with a national research company to perform a telephone survey of 1,002 adults (18 years of age and older) living in the continental United States. Survey results are an accurate representation of the total continental U.S. population, 18 years of age and older, with a margin of error of +/- 3.1 percent at a 95 percent confidence level.

As North America's largest motoring and leisure travel organization, AAA provides more than 56 million members with travel, insurance, financial and automotive-related services. Since its founding in 1902, the not-for-profit, fully tax-paying AAA has been a leader and advocate for the safety and security of all travelers. You wouldn't let the outside of your car look dirty, why let the inside?

TOP TIER™ detergent gasoline does the cleaning for you.

TOP TIER™ Detergent Gasoline is the premier standard for gasoline performance. Eight of the world's top automakers, BMW, General Motors, Fiat Chrysler Automobiles, Honda, Toyota, Volkswagen, Mercedes-Benz and Audi recognize that the current EPA minimum detergent requirements do not go far enough to ensure optimal engine performance.

While it's important to know your car's maintenance schedule, it's also important to know that EPA's current detergent requirements have not kept pace with the technological advances in fuel injection. In fact, EPA's current requirements allow for up to 30% less detergent in a gallon of gasoline than what's needed to keep your engine clean. That's why you should look for the Top Tier™ logo on the gas pump, not just for the sake of your engine's performance.

Eight top automakers have agreed to use Top Tier™ fuel in their vehicles. That's why you should look for the Top Tier™ logo on the gas pump, not just for the sake of your engine's performance. It's also why you should look for the Top Tier™ logo on the gas pump, not just for the sake of your engine's performance.
